

Southern Conference of NCARB
Educators and Practitioners Conference

Saturday, February 3rd, 2024

9:00 until 4:00

The Dubois Center @ UNC/Charlotte, Charlotte, NC

Preliminary Agenda

9:00 a.m. - Conference Begins

Make the Connection: UNC/Charlotte's Integrated Path to Licensure

Presenters will include an educator, a licensing advisor, a firm principal/mentor, and a student who will provide valuable insight into their experiences with the IPAL program.

Make the Connection: The Impact of Artificial Intelligence

Attendees will learn about the impact of artificial intelligence on architectural education, examination, and practice.

Make the Connection: Diverse Pathways to Licensure

This session will include a discussion on how a NAAB program has teamed with a community college. Additionally, panelists from NCARB and state boards will review current licensure requirements, as well as ways in which the path to architectural licensure might evolve.

Make the Connection: Education and the Accreditation Process

Attendees will receive updates and learn more about the current and future accreditation process, including upcoming changes. Regulators and board staff will interface with educators to better understand the challenges and successes within the architectural education system.

Make the Connection: Education to Practice through Experience

Attendees will benefit from a panel discussion on the experience requirement from the perspectives of an educator, a practitioner, and a licensure candidate.

4:00 p.m. - Conference Concludes
